

TRAINING

While many positions require on-the-job training; some positions require previous appropriate experience and education. Training will be provided as needed and available. Managing Librarians may suggest specific training for employees; the Assistant Director will make the final determination based on budget, need for the training, and affordability.